Now Choose You This Day

R. L. Stoller

moderate tempo

1. A man stood be - side an oak tree long a - go and chal - lenged God's peo - ple that day:
2. The peo - ple pro - claimed their al - le - giance to God; be - neath that oak tree they did pray.
3. Dear friend will you pon - der what Josh - u - a said be - neath that oak tree long a - go?
4. Rise up, my dear friend and pro - claim loud and clear, for all in the world who can hear:

"Now whom will you serve, the true God, or the world; your will, or God's will to o - bey?"
A stone was set up to re - mind them al - ways of Josh - u - a's chal - lenge that day.
The cross-road of life is be - fore you this day, a choice as to which way to go.
"For me and my house, we are in one ac - cord; we glad - ly will serve our dear Lord!"

CHORUS

Now choose you this day, just who will you serve? A choice be - tween heav - en or hell.

ritard — — — — — — — — — a tempo

The prince of this world? or Lord God Je - ho - vah, the Lord God of Is - ra - el?