

There'll Be Light In The Valley

Albert Simpson Reitz

D. B. Towner

1.) Should the dark-ness of life's eve-ning swift-ly fall, And the gloom of part-ing come to you and me,
2.) When the an-gel voic-es fall up-on our ear, And the last fare-well is said for you and me,
3.) When we reach the clos-ing mo-ments of life's day And the home-land of the soul we soon shall see,

Then my ris-en Lord will shine a-bove it all And the val-ley of the shad-ow bright will be.
Then we'll walk be-side the One who ban-ished fear And the val-ley of the shad-ow bright will be.
Then the glo-ry of His grace shall light the way, And the val-ley of the shad-ow bright will be.

There'll be light in the val-ley, There'll be light in the val-ley, For the Sav-iour will gent-ly lead us home; And though earth-ties may sever, 'Twill be glo-ry for-ev-er In the bright-ness of our e-ter-nal home.
